Re: Call for Visiting Food Assistance Research Scholar Applications for 2011–2012

The application deadline is June 30, 2011.

The Institute for Research on Poverty (IRP) invites applications from U.S.-based food assistance scholars to visit the IRP RIDGE Center for National Food and Nutrition Assistance Research for one to two weeks during the 2011–2012 academic year, interact with its faculty in residence, and become acquainted with the staff and resources of the Institute.

The intent of the IRP Research, Innovation, and Development Grants in Economics (RIDGE) Center and the Visiting Food Assistance Scholars Program is to stimulate innovative research related to food assistance programs such as SNAP (formerly food stamps) and school breakfast and lunch, and to support training of researchers interested in food assistance issues.

Visits of one to two weeks’ duration can be supported during either fall or spring semester of the academic year 2011–2012. Visiting researchers will be invited to give a seminar, to work on their own projects, and to confer with IRP faculty affiliates. Transportation, lodging, and meal expenses will be covered by IRP and its RIDGE Program partner, the Food Assistance and Nutrition Research Program (FANRP) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture’s Economic Research Service.

Interested scholars should submit the following materials: (1) a letter describing their food assistance and food insecurity research interests and experience; (2) the proposed dates for a visit; (3) a current curriculum vitae; (4) two examples of written material; and (5) an estimate of costs to be covered by IRP to: Robin Snell, Institute for Research on Poverty, 1180 Observatory Drive, Madison WI 53706; fax: 608-265-3119; e-mail: rsnell@ssc.wisc.edu. Applications must be submitted by June 30, 2011. RIDGE Center Director Judith Bartfeld and Center Associate Director Timothy Smeeding review applications and select scholars.
