Housing, Schooling, and "the Everyday"

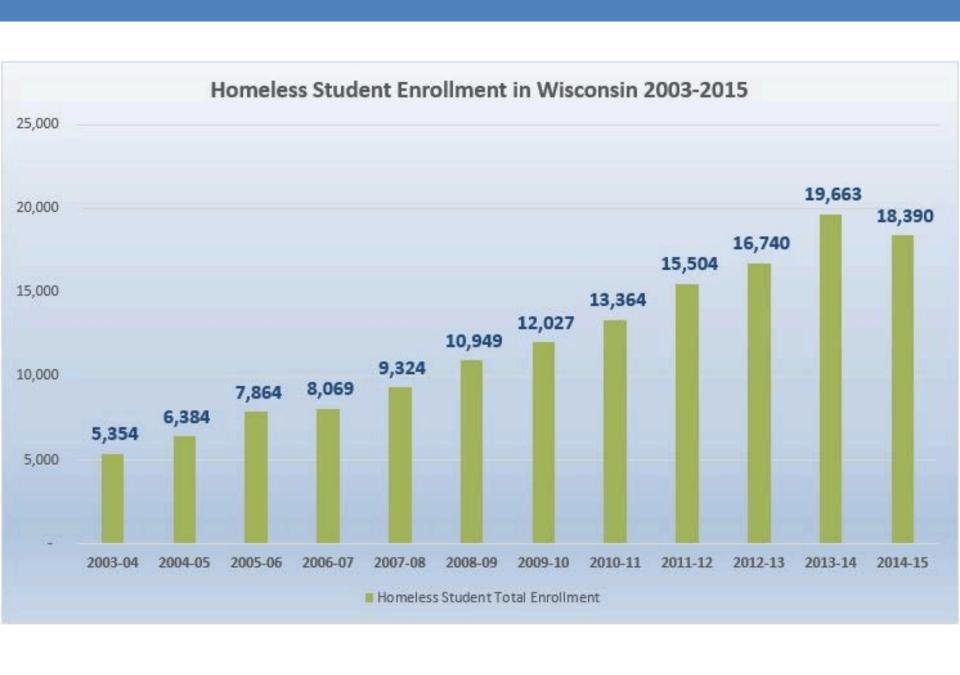

Peter Miller, Ph.D. University of Wisconsin-Madison

Homeless students 2007-08

- California 224,249
- New York 71,218
- Illinois 26,238
- Alabama 11,687
- Indiana 8,480
- N. Dakota 686

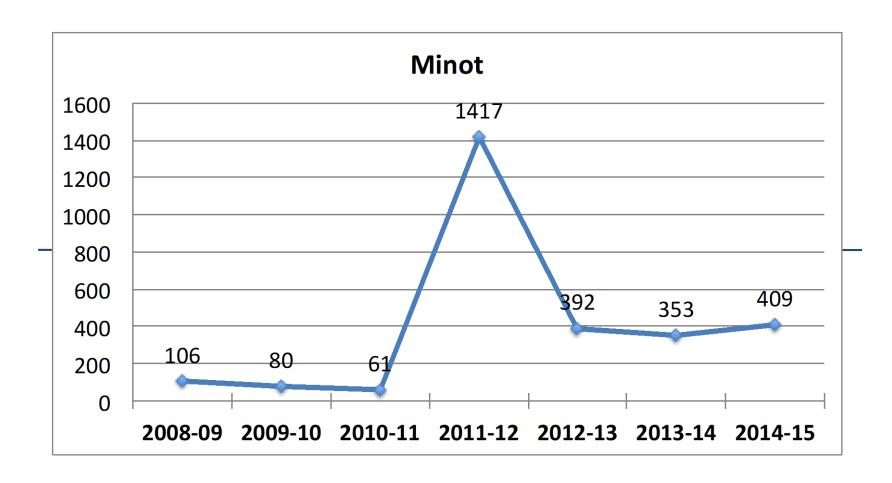

Homeless students 2007-08 \rightarrow 2013-14

- California 224,249 → 310,002
- New York 71,218 → 145,259
- Illinois $26,238 \rightarrow 55,422$
- Alabama 11,687 → 19,266
- Indiana 8,480 → 17,926
- N. Dakota 686 → 2,395

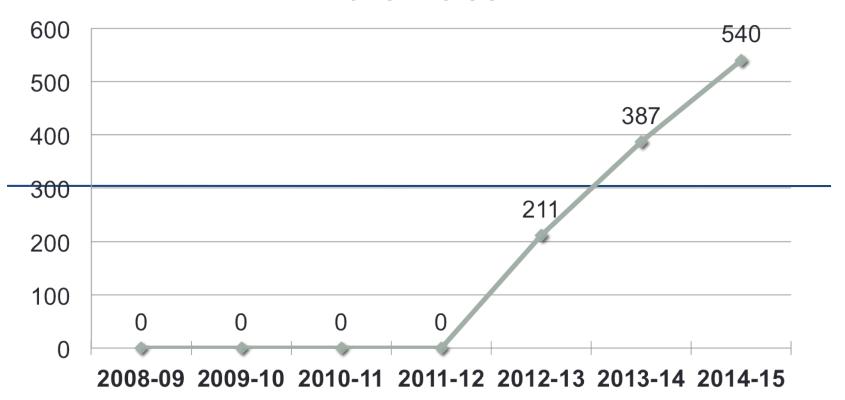

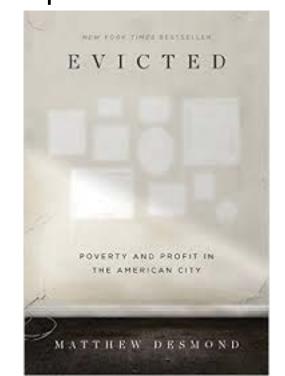

McKenzie Co.

"Life in poverty is facing one crisis after another" (p. 286).

"The poor are constantly exposed to evidence of their own irrelevance" (p. 257).

UNANTICIPATED DESCRIPTION OF DE HETWORK INCODALITY OR EVENYBRY LIFE MARIO LUIS SMALL

Brokerage is not just about connections to people and resources, but also to ideas and information.

Social

Routine

Unnoticed

family aspiration, reflection,

formation

is rattled and redefined

is rattled and redefined

is rattled and redefined by homelessness

What advantages do students receive as a result of being part of your school(s)?

What advantages do parents and families receive as a result of being part of your school(s)?

What advantages does your community receive from your school(s)?

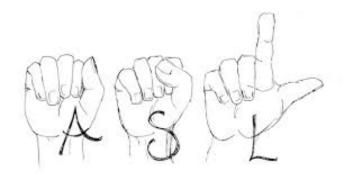

What are the other "high advantage" organizations with which students and families are associated?

- School year = 180 days
- School day = 6.9 hours

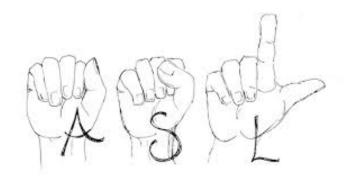

1242 hours

Mr. Martin

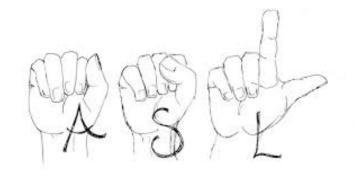

Mr. Martin

"I love you!"

Mr. Martin

"I love you!"

 $11 \times 180 = 1,980$

"I love you!"

8,909 miles driven

8,909 miles driven

17,215 minutes (287 hours)

14,380 minutes (12 days)

552 drives started from home

459 drives ended at home

868 drives lasted 10 minutes or less

1172 drives were "totally normal"

98 drives "somewhat different"

2 drives were "really different"

1272 occasions for anticipation, reflection, and formation

1272 occasions for anticipation, reflection, and formation

The collective impact of everyday shapes "meta" anticipation, reflection, and formation

What are the "1254 drives" in the lives that your organization serves?

Thank you

Contact:

Peter Miller
University of Wisconsin-Madison
pmmiller2@wisc.edu